

2008 Infection Control Cabell Huntington Hospital

Prepared by Barbara Jones

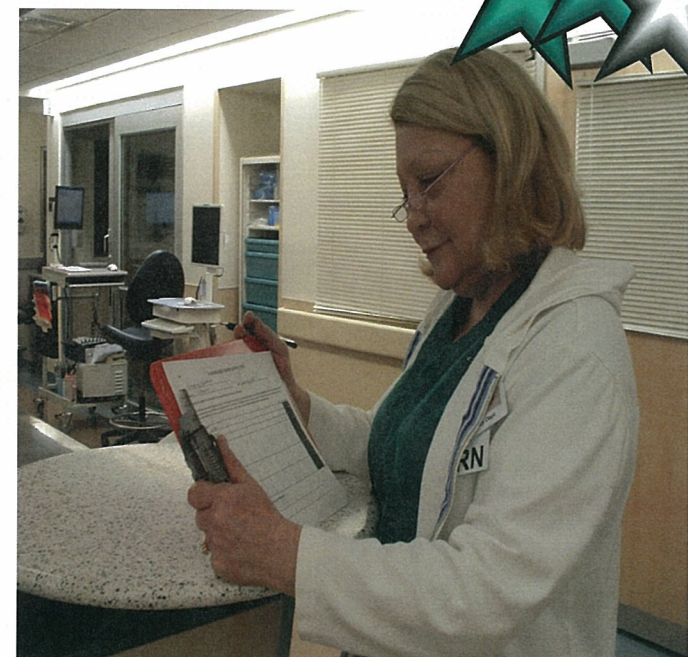

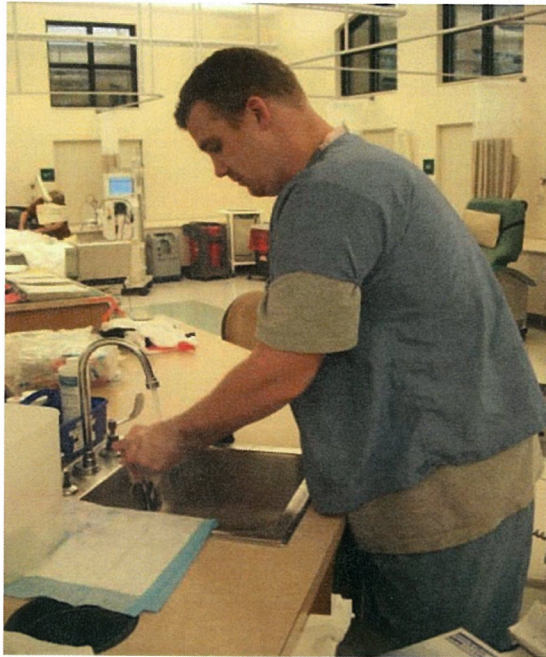

Infection Control Manual

- Located in every department
- Yellow: Can be found with all other departmental manuals
- Contains all policies pertaining to infection control
- Can be accessed electronically on the chhi.org web site

Hand Hygiene

Hand washing is the single most important method of preventing infections to both patients and healthcare workers.

- Before coming to work and before leaving
- Before and after performing personal functions
- Before and after eating
- After touching contaminated objects
- Before and after patient contact

Proguard is available for red, irritated hands

Hand hygiene monitoring is performed monthly

CabellHuntington
Hospital

Performance, Partnerships and Growth